Changes to the statement

The character area statement only applies to properties or development located within the character area overlay. The purpose of the statement is to identify the attributes specific to the character area and to ensure that development proposals are consistent with the characteristics expressed therein. The code amendment proposes to change the wording of the area statement to better reflect the eras, patterns and characteristics of development. These updates are shown below in yellow.

Eras, themes and context	1890s to 1940s
Allotments, subdivision and built form patterns	Low site areas. Wide frontages. Commercial development along Henley Beach Road on smaller/narrower allotments. Detached and semi-detached dwellings on substantial allotments.
Architectural styles, detailing and built form features	Predominantly Victorian and Federation villas, Tudor and bungalow style dwellings with examples of row cottages; single fronted cottages; Spanish mission dwellings, and parapeted shopfronts. Strong uniformity of layout and buildings. Key architectural features include: hip, gable and Dutch gable roofs. Integrated and complementary verandahs/porticos. Other notable built form features include consistent scale and massing, and a regular pattern of fenestration (proportion of openings) and historic colour palettes. Additions are generally located to the rear of the dwelling.
Building height	Generally single storey. Single storey within the roof space.
Materials	Brick. Painted brick. Stone. Rendered masonry. Corrugated pre-coloured or galvanised iron sheeting. Timber windows. Brick chimneys.
Fencing	Low fencing facilitating views of the dwelling. Post and rail with woven wire. Low level stone or masonry. Timber picket.
Setting, landscaping, streetscape and public realm features	Large front and side setbacks. Consistent rear setbacks, large private yards. Carports and garages are behind the main face of dwellings. Traditional well-maintained gardens. Tree lined streets. Vehicle access has been designed and located to preserve existing street trees.
