Changes to the statement

The historic area statement only applies to properties or development located within the historic area overlay. The purpose of the statement is to identify the attributes specific to the historic area and to ensure that development proposals are consistent with the characteristics expressed therein.

The code amendment proposes to change the wording of the area statement to better reflect the eras, patterns and characteristics of development. These updates are shown below in yellow.

Eras, themes and context	1900s to 1920s
Allotments, subdivision and built form patterns	Strong uniformity of allotment pattern. Medium to low density. Rectangular shaped allotments with direct street frontage. Predominantly row and semi-detached dwellings with some detached dwellings.
Architectural styles, detailing and built form features	Predominantly inter-war dwellings with examples of State Bank bungalows and art deco dwellings. Key architectural features include: half-hipped (hipped gable roofs). Hip roofs. Integrated and complementary verandahs/porticos. Other notable built form features include scale and massing, a regular pattern of fenestration (proportions of openings) and historic colour palettes. Additions are generally located to the rear of the dwelling. Complementary in-fill, modern semi-detached housing.
Building height	Up to 2 storeys.
Materials	Consistent material palette. Brick. Limited rendered masonry. Corrugated pre-coloured or galvanised iron sheeting. Timber windows. Brick chimneys.
Fencing	No front fencing or low front fencing facilitating views of the dwelling.
Setting, landscaping, streetscape and public realm features	Strong uniformity of layout and buildings. Consistent side and rear setbacks. Carports and garages are behind the main face of dwellings. Street trees. Vehicle access has been designed and located to preserve existing street trees.
Representative buildings	Identified - refer to SA planning database.
